House Design Evaluation

Research and study different house designs. You may search for designs online, or use books, magazines, and/or realtor data. Find a design that you really like and write a detailed report evaluating the design meeting the following criteria:

1. Identify the architectural style of the house and its characteristics;
2. Identify the home design (ranch);
3. Identify the number of bedrooms, bathrooms and garage capacity;
4. Discuss the things you like about the house plan; and
5. Discuss the things you would change or improve in the house plan; and
6. Include a picture of the floor plan and exterior to the house.
7. Document your sources for your information (including pictures) using the appropriate Modern Language Association (MLA) formats. The following website has examples of MLA citation styles that may be useful: <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/747/1/>
<http://www.easybib.com/> is a useful website to assist you in creating documentation in the MLA format.
8. Do not plagiarize! Do not copy sentences or phrases directly from a source. No more than three words copied together in the assignment.

Your report will be graded on the following:

- Grammar
- Presentation of quality, detailed information
- All criteria included
